LA SALLE UNIVERSITY'S WEEKLY INFORMATION CIRCULAR

April 23rd 1999

LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

PHILADELPHIA, PA 19141 • (215) 951-1010 • FAX (215) 951-1783

NICHOLAS A. GIORDANO
PRESIDENT

April 23, 1999

Dear Colleagues,

This past Monday, La Salle University instituted a new tradition -- the President's Cup Golf Tournament. A very special part of the President's Cup was a raffle drawing, featuring trips to Ireland, Bermuda and Orlando, Florida.

I am thrilled to inform you of our great success with the Raffle, and it is because of your enthusiastic support of the President's Cup Raffle that we achieved such an overwhelming success. Because of our alumni, friends, faculty, staff, and students, we were able to raise over $76,000.00. Most of the $76,000.00 will be credited to Student Financial Aid and Scholarship, but a portion also will be credited to various departments on campus that sold so many tickets.

The winners of the Raffle are:

To Ireland: Joseph J. Duffy '67

To Bermuda: Williams F. '77 and Deborah Bodnar '77 Flooks, Jr.

To Orlando: Barbara Lee Mirth '85 MBA

Again, thank you for making the President's Raffle a success. We had a great opportunity to help our students and our University. I hope you had a lot of fun taking a chance on these trips.

Thanks for your support!

Yours truly,

THE FACULTY SENATE

Minutes of March 17, 1999

Present: J. Brogan, J. Butler, D. Cichowicz, E. Cogan, D. Falcone, P. Feden, C. Freeman, S. Longo, L. Miller, E. Mollenhauer, M. Moreau, L. Otten, D. Robison, D. Smith, J. Smither, M. Soven, S. Stickel

Excused: S. Borkowski, M. Gauss, T. Straub, M. Watson

The meeting was called to order at 2:35 PM. The minutes of the Senate meeting of February 16, 1999 were approved as written (15-0-0).

The Senate President asked if there were volunteers from the Senate to work with the Senate Vice President as members of an election committee to oversee the upcoming elections to the Faculty Senate. Two members volunteered to assist the Senate Vice President.

The Senate President raised the issue of how the Senate should proceed to revise the proposed grievance policy in response to feedback received from administrators and some Chairs. Several alternative approaches were discussed at length.

A motion was offered and seconded.

“The Faculty Senate will refer the grievance policy proposal back to the Academic and Faculty Affairs Committee of the Faculty Senate. The Senate requests that the Provost solicit constructive suggestions concerning revisions to the policy and work collaboratively with the Committee in revising the policy. The Committee will report back to the Faculty Senate by May 3, 1999.

The motion was approved (13-0-2).

A spokesperson for faculty in the School of Nursing offered a resolution to change the bylaws of the Faculty Senate to assure ongoing representation with a minimum of two (2) faculty from each school in the university. (Currently, there are no senators from the School of Nursing, although the School of Nursing has been represented on the faculty Senate in the past.) Nursing faculty described the rationale offered by proponents of the proposal. This rationale included ‘effective participation (and coverage) in faculty senate meetings/forums,’ ‘different points of view,’ ‘complements diverse class/clinical schedules,’ and ‘brings significant expertise to the University.’ Several other faculty members from the School of Nursing also spoke in favor of the proposal, asking whether current Faculty Senate representatives are adequately aware of and can adequately represent the concerns of faculty from the School of Nursing. It was noted that faculty from the School of Nursing may feel isolated and would like to participate more in the life of the University.

A discussion followed during which several senators argued that the current model has served the Senate and University well. It was noted that, under the current model, senators do not represent their schools, but rather are asked to represent the interest of faculty across schools. It was also noted that the amendment process of the Faculty Senate (which requires a vote of the entire faculty) could not be achieved in time to make a change that would affect this year's (1999) elections.

The Senate President suggested three concrete steps that can help the faculty in the School of Nursing achieve better representation and involvement in the life of the University.

1. The Committee on Committees can continue its efforts to ensure that faculty from the School of Nursing are adequately represented on university committees.
2. Encourage faculty from the School of Nursing to attend open meetings of the Faculty Senate.
3. Faculty from the School of Nursing are encouraged to express their concerns and their desire for representation on the Faculty Senate to the faculty, perhaps through e-mail. Faculty from the School of Nursing are encouraged to invite the university to elect suggested faculty from the School of Nursing to the Faculty Senate.

The Senate adjourned at 4:30 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

James W. Smither

RE: CELEBRATE!

The end of the academic year is approaching. Help us celebrate the year that is passing at a reception on Wednesday, May 5, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the Dunleavy Room of the Union Building.

Join us also at that time in celebrating the many years of devoted and distinguished service of our retiring colleagues, George Diehl, Mark Guttman, and Joseph Kane. We will remember their contributions to La Salle in an informal presentation, and we cordially invite all of the campus community to participate in wishing them every happiness in their retirement years.

From: John S. Grady

Today one of our seniors – Jennifer Merritt – was notified by the national foundation that she has been named a James Madison Fellow as a result of the national competition conducted this year. This Fellowship will provide up to $24,000 toward the cost of graduate school studies toward a Masters Degree in History with a concentration in American History.

The foundation has informed me that Jennifer is one of 17 “junior fellows” named nationally this year. A junior fellow is one who will be completing their undergraduate work this year or one who had previously completed undergraduate studies but has not yet started work at the graduate level. They also named 46 “senior fellows” who have already started their teaching careers and are currently pursuing graduate studies in history.

Jennifer is the only junior fellow in the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey and she is the first La Salle student to receive this very special honor. I know all the members of the La Salle community join me in congratulating Jennifer for the recognition she has brought to herself and to the university.

Everyone:

As many of you already know, George underwent triple bypass surgery last Wednesday, April 14th, at Einstein Hospital. He had gone in on Tuesday for the cardiac catheterization procedure, and the surgery was performed the following day.

I am happy to report that he is now home and resting comfortably. I have spoken to him a couple of times, and he seems very happy to have the whole thing now behind him.

His home address is in the blue Telephone Directory, for anyone who wishes to send a note or card, etc.

Women's Studies Program

The Women's Studies Program needs your essays, stories, book reviews & poetry for

GENDER LINES, volume 9

The Women's Studies Program is searching for critical essays, stories, book reviews, and poetry—written by La Salle students and befitting publication in the Ninth Edition of our journal, GENDER LINES. The essay or story judged to be the best will win the prestigious Caryn McTighe Musil Award and a check for $100. (Please note that only essays and stories are eligible for the Award.)

Qualifications: Your writing need not necessarily have been done for a women's studies course, nor must you necessarily write about women. What you must include, however, is a feminist analysis of your subject matter. Such an analysis should demonstrate that you understand how a women's studies perspective challenges traditional ways of asking questions by making gender central to your inquiry. Submissions will be judged on the perceptiveness of their feminist analysis, the logic, style, and coherence of their writing, and the originality of concept. (You may submit more than one essay, story, etc. for consideration.)

To Enter: Please submit three copies (typed, double-spaced) of your essay, story, book review, or poetry to:

Dr. Jacqueline Pastis
Director, Women's Studies Program
Box 134 or McShain 212

Include a cover page with the title of your work, your name, summer address and phone number, major, and year of graduation (graduating seniors may also submit work). Do not put your name anywhere on the paper itself. Submissions will be given to a faculty committee for blind review. Entries must be received by Friday, May 7.

Publication in GENDER LINES: The winning essay/story will be the lead article in the Ninth Edition of GENDER LINES, to be released in October 1999. Runner-up essays and stories (as well as book reviews and poetry) will also be published.

For more information contact Dr. Jacqueline Pastis by phone (951-1340), e-mail (pastis@lasalle.edu), or in person (McShain 212).

Two New Admissions Positions

La Salle University, a Christian Brothers University offering over 40 academic programs and enrolling 3000 full time undergraduate students, seeks two individuals to take leading roles in new recruitment initiatives. Imagination, drive and a willingness to take personal responsibility for the success of a program are among the attributes required of the successful candidates

1. Assoc. Director of Admissions for the program in Integrated Science, Business and Technology. This major new academic initiative is a computer-intensive, applications-oriented program that will develop skills needed for career success in an increasingly technical society. In addition to interviewing students and reviewing applications, the successful candidate will serve as the chief admissions officer for the ISBT program. Publication development, high school and community college awareness efforts, faculty collaboration and development of a marketing plan are among the duties required. Candidates must have a Bachelor's degree and at least three years of admissions experience for consideration. Experience in a technical workplace is also helpful.
2. Ass't/Assoc. Director of Admissions for international recruitment. The position requires international travel, establishment of relationships with organizations sponsoring int'l students, concluding articulation agreements with overseas educational institutions, counseling int'l students during the admissions process, evaluating international credentials and other duties as assigned. Candidates must have a Bachelor's degree, be eligible for a passport and have at least two years of experience in international recruitment.

Each position offers a competitive salary and benefits package. Please forward cover letter indicating the position for which you wish to be considered, resume and names, addresses and phone numbers of three references to: Robert Voss, Dean of Admissions and Financial Aid, La Salle University, 1900 W. Olney, Philadelphia, Pa. 19141 by May 25, 1999. The positions are available as of July 1.
